

Dr. Steven Kahn presents: Preparing for the Future

Parenting is all about looking ahead. Please join us for Dr. Kahn's tips on how to parent today with an eye on the future. There is so much that parents can do to influence the way children experience their teenage years and teach the skills, habits and values that children will need in order to be successful .

Dr. Kahn will also spend some time discussing drug use during school years, based on the results of a recent survey, which included St. Anthony students.
